

E-COMMERCE BUY AND SELL PORTAL

PROJECT REPORT

Project proposal:

In compliance with the present world scenario where buying and selling can also be digitalized we have many ecommerce websites for this purpose. Our project is to build an ecommerce platform.

In this website the user must register into the site by providing certain details about him or her and they should have a unique username and they will have to create their own password by which they can login into the page. After logging in the user will be directed to the home page. On this website the user can buy the desired product. The various categories of products that are available are shown on the home page, there the user can choose them to buy. From there they will be directed to the respective pages and the products that they want to buy must be added to cart and then she or he can place the order from them by making the payment.

Development tools used:

→ Frontend:

➤ Html, CSS, JavaScript, Bootstrap

→ Backend:

➤ Python, Flask

→ Database management system:

➤ MySQL

Work division between the team members:

VINAY

Managed database. Made the backend part for signup, login, verification, password encryption, security, categories, product, cart, orders, checkout, confirmation page, image upload and transfer along with some part of frontend for user, vendor page.

VAGGA RAVI KUMAR

Made the backend for product list, (edit products), new orders, order history in vendor part and vendor list along with vendor (products, orders, details, delete) in admin part and also orders list and review option for user part. Part of the frontend in the vendor part and helped in managing the database.

Special Points:

- Password encryption
- Email verification while signing up
- Forgot password
- Allowing users to access only particular URLs using sessions.

Website Database:

A Database is a collection of interrelated data containing information related to an enterprise. Databases are widely used in almost every field.

Our website needs a database which can handle the data related to all the products, users and orders. We will have to make many entity sets in order to store all this information in an organized way.

ER-Diagram:

The data we need to store is:

- ❖ User details
- ❖ Product details
- ❖ Order details
- ❖ Vendor details
- ❖ Price, Discount, Stock details
- ❖ Reviews and ratings

Database tables (PK=PRIMARY KEY, FK=FOREIGN KEY)

There are a total of 11 tables in this database
